

CURLING THE SPORT

Curling is a team sport played on ice with 42-pound, puck-like stones. Curling combines physical skill and strategy in a game that is enjoyed by new and experienced players alike.

Two teams composed of four players take turns sliding stones to a target at the far end of a 140-foot sheet of ice. Each team delivers eight stones during an "end," where the team with the closest stone scores points. Sweeping is used to control the distance and curl of each stone. The strategy of positioning stones is just as important as the skill involved in making each shot.
